DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

1. Applicant's arguments filed 4/23/07 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant's arguments fail to comply with 37 CFR 1.111(b) because they amount to a general allegation that the claims define a patentable invention without specifically pointing out how the language of the claims patentably distinguishes them from the references. Applicant states that his invention is novel because of the limitation of the hour-glass shaped absorbent and the little amount of superabsorbent and pulp in the absorber, but fails to show how the prior art does not meet the claim limitations. Hence, the arguments are not persuasive.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claims 1-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. Claim 1 recites the limitation "the gathers constituted to stand upright according to slipping down of the diaper". It is unclear what structural feature is being claimed.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claims 1, 4, 5, 9, 11, and 12, as best understood by the examiner, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Niemeyer et al. USPN 6822136. As to claims 1, 4, and 5, Niemeyer discloses a pants-type diaper for playing in water comprising a liquid permeable top sheet 48, a liquid impermeable sheet 46, and an absorber 50 intervening between the sheets, three-dimensional leg gathers 62, elastic stretch members 82 disposed on a waistband portion, and side portions 42 between the waistband portion and leg portions. Niemeyer further discloses a liquid permeable back sheet 70 made of nonwoven fabric disposed on an outermost surface of the main body. (Figures 1- 3). Niemeyer discloses the present invention substantially as claimed. However, Niemeyer does not disclose the tightening force of the elastic stretch members, the pressure resistance of the nonwoven backsheet, the void volume of the housing pocket, and the amount of pulpwood in the absorber. Niemeyer teaches a disposable absorbent garment for use as swimwear. Niemeyer teaches the swimwear is designed for leakage prevention prior to swimming (col. 6, lines 4-5). Niemeyer teaches liquid absorption, but liquid permeability and forming the backsheet with slits or holes so it has reduced liquid resistance (col. 6, lines 4-19, col. 7, lines 33-12, col. 9, lines 22-37). Niemeyer teaches the general conditions of low moisture humidity between the absorber and backsheet, an absorbent but not highly swellable core, and leakage prevention cuffs that are resilient but capable of maintaining solid waste. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to article with the aforementioned claimed parameters since where the general conditions of a claim are disclosed in the prior art, it is not inventive to discover the optimum or workable ranges by routine experimentation, In re Aller et al. 105 USPQ 233.

As to claim 9, see col. 8, lines 39-41.

As to claim 11, see col. 9, lines 13-17.

As to claim 12, see col. 8, lines 5-15.

Conclusion

6. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within

Art Unit: 3761

TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
